LOCAL MATTERS.

MELKE ON FRANKLIN STREET-RESISTANCE AN OFFICER.-Saturday afternoon about o'clock Officer Barker had a rough time arresting a drunken man at the corner of irst and Franklin streets. Three rollinghands-James Mallory, Mike Dolan, nd Robert Barefoot-were walking along ngether, making a noise, and Officer arker went up to Mallory, who was atoxicated and making the most disurbance, and attempted to arrest bim, bis was on First street near Franklin. allory defied the officer, and said he ould not go to the station-house. Malry's friends tried to coax him to go with policeman, but Mallory would not obey. fter the officer had parleyed with the arty ten or fifteen minutes without offerto use any extreme measures, he tried "force Mallory along, and then ensued rough-and-tumble fight between the two. be officer succeeded in getting his prisoner round to Franklin street, and when he was bout to use his club Mallory's partners imped on the officer, threw him down, and egan to be him. It was a regular millee, d a crowd soon gathered. The officer did ot remain down long, however; but Dolan a Barefoot, supposing they had inflicted rious injury on the policeman, fled, leavtheir comrade to look out for himself. I'wo or three citizens ran in pursuit of fugitives, and Officer Barker secured llory. Then Officer O'Grady came up d assisted Officer Barker to conduct his risoner to the station-house. Sergeant arrier and Officer O'Grady finally capured Dolan and Barefoot and lodged them the station-bouse. They will all appear efore Justice White to-day. This was the worst case of resisting an

ficer we have seen for some time. Officer larker deserves credit for dealing as kindly he did with the men, as the by-standers I said he would have been justifiable in using his "tillie" from the start.

THE RICHMOND STOVE COMPANY .- This company has been entirely reorganized, vith the addition of new stockholders and urgely-increased capital. As a new entergise it started in July, 1871, and has had o encounter the closest and most zealous ompetition of northern factories, on which irginia and the other southern States had efore to depend for cooking- and heatingtoves. Lacking, too, the capital which the ider manufactories of the North had seured, or could command, this company as had to rely with confidence on the supav as those with which they had to compete. It is now a demonstrated fact that ron products of this class are favored in other section can command. The manufacures of this company have met and susained a favorable comparison with those of Virginia, West Virginia, and the southern his answer, as follows:

Etales. In making a renewed effort to increase its business and to maintain an enterprise which contributes to the general welfare the company hopes to receive all proper encouragement. Colonel Knight having resigned pering. as president and Captain Irby as superinendent, the following officers have been elected: James M. Talbott, president; H. lay Chamblin, secretary and treasurer; nd Wray T. Knight, superintendent. A ull force of hands have been put to work, and active preparations are being made for i large fall trade.

THE CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILEOAD .udge Wellford on Saturday entered an order in the Chesapeat, and Ohio railroad case which is preligary to the reörganiza-tion of the compan. The Judge approved the form of the deeds of sale. Joseph Bryan and Henry T. Wickham were appointed trustees to receive the deed of trust and to execute the trust thereof. The cause is still to remain upon the docket of the court.

Inasmuch as the exact amount of the charges and expenses payable out of the eash proceeds of sale cannot be presently secrtained and settled, it was ordered that one hundred and fifty thousand dolars thereof be and the same is hereby set apart for distribution to and among the sevral creditors whose debts are prior in point if lien to the mortgages in the ninth and enth paragraphs of the said decree menioned, and that $50,000 of such proceeds se set apart for the payment of such charges and expenses, and that any balance remaining of such sum, if any, after the payment of such charges and expenses, be dealt with and distributed as the Court on application nav direct."

An order like this is to be entered in Vest Virginia, and then the reorganization | during the trial was unexceptionable. vill be proceeded with. Judge Smith, of day in consultation with Judge Wellford, and agreed that he would enter the order.

THE STORM OF FRIDAY .- During the storm of Friday afternoon the lightning struck the chimney on the residence of Mrs. Crowe, on Hechler's hill, knocked a portion f it down and passed through a back wining and splintering a column of the back of the house. Marketmen coming into the city report he storm as having been very severe on the Jeadow-Bridge and Old-Church roads. On the Meadow-Bridge road it shattered several large trees near the roadside, and on the farm of Mr. Ben. Pollard, about seven miles

TO MERCY-MOTION FOR A NEW TRIAL

MADE AND TO BE ARGUED 10th JULY-

FACTS CONCERNING THE TRIAL. About 1 o'clock Saturday the jury of the Hustings Court in the case of Willard F. Trogden, indicted for getting goods from M. Millhiser & Co. on false pretences, found accused guilty and ascertained his term of imprisonment in the penitentiary at three

For the benefit of those who did not follow the reports of the trial closely it may be said that Trogden was the chief member of the firm of Trogden & Co., merchants, of Greensboro', N. C. On the 28th of February last he came to this city. Mr. Taylor, salesman of Millhiser & Co., took his order for about $600 worth of goods. Mr. Hirsh, a member of the firm of M. Millhiser & Co., saw the goods laid out on the sales-counter. Trogden & Co. had bought bills ranging from $25 to $90 from the firm, and there had been no trouble with them; but Mr. Hirsh was not prepared to let $600 worth of his goods go without learning more than he knew about

Trogden & Co.'s financial standing. THE REPRESENTATIONS.

Mr. Hirsh sent Mr. Taylor for Mr. Trogden. The latter came in with Mr. Taylor, and upon entering Mr. Hirsh's office said, "I suppose you want a statement?" Mr. Hirsh told him that he did; and thereupon Trogden gave him a false statement, showing his firm to be in a sound financial condition.

Mr. Gus. Millhiser was the member of the firm to whom the credit business new to this day. was usually referred, but he was absent in New York. Hirsh enclosed him Trogden's statement, which he had reduced to writing as soon as it was given as follows: him, and with it the names of the New York houses with whom Trogden said he had dealt. Millhiser went to see three of the New York houses. They knew very little about Trogden & Co .- and nothing to their discredit-and Millhiser telegraphed Hirsh to ship the goods. They were shipped, to be paid for in two and four months. On that very same day (28th February) Trogden bought goods from Gardner, Carlton & Baldwin, and from other Richmond firms, and to several of them gave the very same statement. A month afterwards he went into bankruptcy. In the meantime, bowever, he had bought goods to the amount of $9,000 or $10,000 from various parties in Richmond and other places. Whatever became of these goods was never proved, and to the Greensboro' people, as to the jury, remains a mystery. FACT AND FICTION.

On the 28th February Trogden bought a considerable bill from Gardner, Carlton & Baldwin. To Mr. Baldwin he gave the very same statement that he had furnished Mr. Hirsb.

The statement and the truth compare as follows, as shown by the trial: Statement. The Fact.

Amount with which Trogventory taken just before Trogden came here..... The firm's indebtedness... Real estate of Mr. Allred,

In his schedule he represented on oath that it was worth only $500. Two witnesses for the defence-neither claiming to know positively—put it at from $1,700 to $2,500.

Trogden had taken an inventory just before he came to Richmond (his books proved it), and knew exactly how he stood.

This letter removed the doubts of the last uror who had held out for acquittal. But he and all the others agreed to the following, which they would have made a part of their verdict if they had been allowed by law so to do:

"We, the undersigned, members of the jury which rendered the verdict in the case of Willard F. Trogden, recommend him to Executive clemency; and this we have resolved to;do when making up our verdict. H. Swineford, Thomas M. Jones, R. Cauthorn, Jr., George W. Duesberry, Jr., George W. Bradley, W. H. B. Taylor, Herman Kopple, James C. Roy, John C. Barnes, L. R. Barnes, John F. W. Gibson, and E. M. Crump."

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL.

Mr. Trogden was very much affected by the verdict. He was evidently not prepared for it. Here it may be said that his conduct Judge Crump moved that the verdict be dence. That motion will be argued on July 10th. Trogden was remanded to jail. Washington Gill, Richmond's old and well-tried Engineer, is in the city, and will call upon his many friends, including members of both branches of the Council, prior | sweet perfume. to Monday evening. He is bere in part to see his old acquaintances, and in response to many calls to come back with us as Engineer of the city. He was tried as a practical and skilful Engineer for many years before and during the war, and we are happy to say, gave universal satisfaction. He was forced by military rule to leave us and seek employment elsewhere. He is now anxious to return and spend the balance of his days with his friends and acquaintances in Richmond: and should it be the pleasure of the Council to give him his old place, he will use his best efforts to build up and beautify his old DISPATCH PRINTING-HOUSE. Good work, low home. With the experience he has had prices, and satisfaction guaranteed. since he left here, and of tifteen years previous, as Engineer of Richmond, he will be able to give entire satisfaction to our people These are the sentiments of thousands of our best citizens.
